The Huns failed to make it Germanica. They are now trying to make it Germexico.

It is the British navy that is putting the Hun in the hungering Hun, and hunger in Hungary.

Don't see as the revolution in Russia has made the names of the various ministers any easier to pronounce.

The news of the German retreat was withheld a week from the German people so, that they might not die of joy over the magnificent strategy.

The Huns are shaking hands with themselves because, they say, the British did not break through their new Hindenburg line in the Tommies' recent drive

But the Huns seeing the "break"
coming, "strategically" skiddo backwards—ever backwards now, towards home.

That trap laid by Gen. Maude for the "Sick Man of Europe's" troops, over there in Mesopotamia,
the other day,

Certainly put the "Mes" into that Mesopotamia Turkish army.

Berlin officials, in a dispatch dealing with the big gains made by the British on the new Hindenburg line, says:

"It is not clear what the English press means by the Hindenburg line, for all the lines are Hindenburg lines."

Perhaps that's the reason why the lines kink and crumple up when the British get at 'em.

The German people have been fighting to save the Hohenzollern.
What are they getting out of it?

Will the Allies be able to see their way to victory more clearly after they have captured Lens?

Some hospitals are not so fussy
as one in Ontario that displays this sign: "No Children Allowed in the Maternity Wards."

The kaiser has gone home with a chill and the Allies for the first time are ready to say to him:
"Shake!"

Reeve and Secretary were empowered to pay J. J. Baker fee and mileage where seizures were made, and commission up to March 7, on condition seizures retained by him and any papers relating to collection of taxes held by him be delivered to the Secretary.

John Dahl, James Doolan and W. J. Blair were appointed a board of trustees in control of Cop Hill cemetery, and asked to attend next meeting of council and discuss plans.

Reeve Gardiner made report of annual meeting of Hail Insurance Board, which was accepted with thanks.

D. A. Bickell was advised we have bailiff appointed for collection of taxes, and cannot make exemptions, but in event of seizure being made, will consider his request.

Bailiff Earing was instructed to make re-seizures in cases where seizure had been previously made by J. J. Baker, second seizure to cancel the first.

Pounds and pound-keepers were located as follows:

John Jarmin s.w 27-29 4

Chinook Breezes

It is beginning to be quite a problem now when the farmer can commence seeding.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McNabb arrived home on Saturday from their winter's sojourn in Ontario.

Shaw—At Cereal, on Saturday
the 14th inst., to Mr and Mrs. P.
J. Shaw, a son.

Squire—At Chinook, on Monday, the 16th inst., to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Squire, a daughter.

The Rev. David Simpson of Cereal and Rev. S. D. Webster of Oyen were Chinook visitors this week.

Falls in Line

When in town last week, Mr.
R. Clarke Fraser ordered a new Chevrolet car from the local agent
Mr. A. E. Fitzgerald. A carload of these popular cars arrived here this week.

No Lack of Kiddies

Some 12 new pupils entered the Chinook consolidated school on Monday last, one coming in from Cappon to take up eighth grade work. This makes a total attendance of over 90.

What a Tale They Could Tell

The Hocart Brothers, who went for a visit, along in December, to their old home in Jersey, one of the Channel Islands, returned to Chinook on Tuesday morning, looking well. Guess they will have something to tell about the Old Country during war times—and the submarine menace.

Building Boom for Chinook

There is every prospect that there will be a big building boom in Chinook this spring. Three or four business lots are changing hands this week, besides four or five residential lots. In addition Mr. Carter is building a 27-roomed wing to the hotel, material for which is now being hauled to the site.

Still Keeps Up Its Interest

The weekly Red Cross tea was held last week at the home of Mrs. Jos. Deman, on account of temporary sickness at the home of Mrs. Rideout, where the tea was advertised to take place.
Considering the short notice of the change, there was a very good attendance and a good cup of tea was enjoyed by some of the gentlemen as well as the ladies.
$5.30 was realized by the silver collection.

THE WESTERN FARMER

FOR some years many of the farmers of the West have been agitating for free wheat—or reciprocity with the United States claiming that it was the only panacea for all their troubles regarding the low price of wheat which has prevailed in past years.
But the dominion could not see eye to eye with the western farmer, as it might work an injustice on others. But the present war has changed things considerably, and particularly since the U.S.
has joined the cause of the Allies.
The dominion government—and the western farmer is not concerned as to the government's reason, as he is in the fact, that at last wheat and flour have been put on the free list with the U.S.
It may not take very long for those who were for and against the measure to see how it works out.
It may not be so noticeable just now as it would in normal times, as wheat and flour prices are so abnormally inflated. Apparently however, both sides appear to be satisfied with the measure, and that means something. It would not be surprising if other things, besides wheat and flour, were put on the free list, now the tariff has been opened.

Dame fashion is still issuing short rations—in skirts.

Unheard of prices are heard of

The kaiser is finding it far easier to start things than to stop them.

Moved by a highly patriotic spirit many young men are now mobilizing—for tennis.

It is to be hoped that winter has made its last attempt this season to "come back."

Defending Our Coast

The Need of Volunteers for Canadian Naval Patrols

Attention is drawn to an advertisement in another column of this paper, calling for recruits for enlistment in the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve. Stress is laid on the fact that the navy must be kept supreme, and that there is an urgent demand for more men to join the service. To those who may not wish to volunteer for overseas service, experienced men from 18 to 45 may enlist in the Canadian Naval Patrols to guard the coast of Canada. The need of men to engage in the work of defending our coast line is very great at the present time, and applications for immediate service from experienced seamen of all grades are asked for. Volunteers are directed to apply to the nearest naval recruiting station, when full information will be given.

Miller's Worm Powders not only make the infantile system untenable for worms, but by their action on the stomach, liver and bowels they correct such troubles as lack of appetite, biliousness and other internal disorders that the worms create. Children thrive upon them and no matter what condition their worm-infested stomachs may be in they will show improvement as soon as the treatment begins.

Dairying in Alberta

In the past six years the number of dairy cows in Alberta has increased from 147,087 head, valued at $7,953,847, to 215,053 head, valued at $12,500,000. In the same time the output of creamery butter has increased from two and a half to eight and a half million pounds, and the output of cheese from 100,000 to 680,000 pounds.

Kept Fit Through Two Wars

Ontario Sapper Praises Dr. Cassell's Tablets.

That a soldier should use and praise Dr. Cassell's Tablets is clear proof of the wonderful sustaining power of this great strength-giving medicine. Thousands of soldiers, men on land and sea, are trusting to Dr. Cassell's Tablets to sustain them through all the hardships of relentless war.

SAPPER A. HARTLEY, OF THE CANADIAN INFANTRY, CANADIAN ENGINEERS, whose home address is 806 TRAFALGAR STREET, LONDON, ONTARIO, is one of many who have written in praise of Dr. Cassell's Tablets. He says:—"As a constant user of Dr. Cassell's Tablets I would like to add my testimony to their value. I used them when I was in the South African War, and, finding their benefits there, have taken them since when ever I felt run down. I always recommend them, for I know they do all that is claimed for them. In my opinion they are the best thing to have on hand for anyone who takes for loss of appetite, nervousness, or loss of blood, or general weakness of the system. We have had a lot of hard training here, and some time ago I began to feel the strain, but I got some Dr. Cassell's Tablets, and my boys are surprised at what a difference they made in me. I mean say to have come with me always on active service."

Dr. Cassell's Tablets put new life and vigour into weak, overtrained people. They nourish the nerves, enrich the blood, strengthen the general system, and create that snap and fitness which make life a joy. Take a course of them, and health and vital energy will soon be yours.

Elevator Capacity / Steadily Increasing

Over 1,300 Points in Western Provinces With Elevator Service

The elevator capacity of Western Canada has increased by over three million bushels during the past nine months. There are now over 1,300 points in the provinces of Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia with elevator service, with a total capacity of 164,933,333 bushels. Of this, 43,895,000 bushels represent terminal storage at Port Arthur or Fort William, at the head of the Great Lakes, 1,250,000 bushels terminal storage at Vancouver, B.C., and 9,500,000 bushels storage at three government interior terminal elevators at Calgary, Alta., and Moose Jaw and Saskatoon, Sask. The Canadian government now owns five terminal elevators in Western Canada.

The flour milling capacity of Western Canada has during the same period increased by some five thousand barrels a day. The present capacity is 60,000 barrels a day of flour, 3,375 barrels a day of oatmeal, and 3,135 tons of feed.

Out of the total, 103,713,333 bushels of elevator capacity are on one line—the Canadian Pacific—while 61,220,000 bushels are on the other, and 48,405 barrels of the milling capacity.

With the Fingers! Says Corns Lift Out Without Any Pain

Sore corns, hard corns, soft corns or blisters of a corn can shortly be lifted right out with the fingers. If you will apply on the corn a few drops of freezone, says a Cincinnati authority.

At little cost one can get a small bottle of freezone at any drug store, which will positively rid the foot of every corn or callus without pain or soreness or the danger of infection. This new drug is an ether compound, and dries the moisture, and applied does not inflame or even irritate the surrounding tissue. Just rub it on with the fingers, and the calluses and corns without a bit of pain or soreness. If your druggist hasn't freezone he can, easily get, a small bottle for you from his wholesale drug house.

Germany's War

American Paper Thinks War Has Worked Benefit All Round

This is Germany's war. She prepared for it, got it up, invited in the contestants, introduced all the novelties, and it still is her head manager. Outsiders like us feel a delicacy about getting in unless expressly invited. It is evidently a war for the improvement of mankind regardless of expense. It has made wonderful people of the French, has brought back the British from a soft and ominous condition to their best form, has worked in Russia wonders that are not yet quite developed enough for appraisal, and promises to do a marvelous clinical work in Germany herself. It has sent the Jews to the wished to improve us also with it before it was all gone. Our case is bad and has long been neglected, and she is so busy that it is hard to see how she can do us justice. Nevertheless, she is only able to punch our hard-earned noses by blunders, or by way of Cuba, or by way of Mexico—she may yet be put in a position to quality us to live in the world that is about to be—New York Life.

Nothing on Him—But Mud

The lady autist apologized to the pedestrian for knocking him down, but added: "You know you must have been walking very recklessly. I am a very careful driver. I have driven a car for five years."

"You have nothing on me," returned the victim, brushing the dirt off his clothes. "I have been walking for fifty years."

"I say, Most, is that dog of yours a mongrel?"

"No sir; just common dog, sah."

Don't Have Catarrh

One efficient way to remove nasal catarrh is to treat its cause, which in most cases is physical weakness. The system needs more oil and easily digested liquid-food, and you should take a spoonful of

Give Up Hidden Gold

British Victory Loan Uncovered Much Hoarded Wealth

Staggering under the weight of a large leather bag, a man dumped it down on the floor of the New Maiden branch of the London and Southwestern Bank and modestly informed the cashier that he wanted to invest 2,000 pounds in the war loan.

The money was mostly in sovereigns, but the man offered no explanation as to how such an extraordinary quantity of gold came to be in his possession, and the bank officials did not inquire.

"It is a curious fact," an official at the bank's head office said, "that at this bank during the last month three times as much gold was paid in as in any of the preceding six months."

From all over the country sovereigns and half-sovereigns came into the local War Savings Committees, from people who have not felt any special compunction up to the present about hiding them, but who now say that they are not going to risk a German success for want of their little bit.

Lady Maxwell, wife of Lieut.-General Sir John Maxwell, offered the state the use of a third of her capital in interest for the duration of the war. This is equivalent to a gift of 1750 pounds a year.

At the other end of the scale is a widow who has sent to the National War Savings Committee a 10s theory note and a postal order for 5s 6d.

Thunder and Teleology

Two negroes were caught in a terrific thunderstorm in the south and took refuge in a barn, but before they could enter they were completely drenched.

The thunder crashed and pealed between flashes of lightning and blinding dashes of rain. One of the negroes thought maybe a little strong language would ease his mind; but his companion remonstrated with him.

"Look here, Charles," said the first, "you quit 'yo cussin'. Don't you know dat Gawd's got 'yo completely in His power just now?"

Hungry Millionaires

Life in Occupied Flanders Under the Iron Hell of the Hun

Hungry millionaires! Extraordinary as it seems, this is the tale told by the X family, who have arrived in England via Holland from the occupied territory in Belgium.

This family, who lived in a suburb of Bruges, stated that they were not allowed to leave their own estate without producing a passport, and when discovered without one they were fined 100 marks.

The Germans took control of the farm and kitchen garden produce, but allowed the owners to keep five eggs a week. On one occasion, when it was found that the family had a tin of 100 marks was imposed. The stables were emptied, the cattle were taken away, and when they tried to hide the carriages they were forced by representative of Kultur, pistol in hand, to give them up. All litters of pigs, even of rabbits, had to be registered.

Three milk cows were left on condition that every day M. X delivered a certain minimum amount of milk to the German military hospital at Bruges. He was allowed to keep his milk-cart to carry it there, and on the road women on their knees begged milk for their children or invalids. By means of watering the milk he was able to give them a little.

Day and night the sound of the cannon fired at the Loire could be heard, and when Zeppelins were hoisted the windows of the chateau shook. Grass grew over the roads and the village streets were deserted because there was no traffic. From the village of Ostkamp alone 700 able-bodied men were deported.

No Real Isolation In Farm Life

The Congeniality and Companionship to be Found Only on the Farm

In absolute ignorance of rural conditions, many people dwell upon the isolation and loneliness of farm life. Riding on a railroad train through a farming community and seeing the farm buildings, they at once draw for themselves mental pictures of the shut-inness of the agricultural life.

They do not know that each farmstead is in itself a little independent community, depending far less upon the world outside than the more helpless townspeople. The farmer's wife and children, the tenants on the place, and the cousins and uncles and aunts who seem to be more numerous in the country than elsewhere, make up a solidarity at once sympathetic and congenial.

There is also the teeming life of the farm with its variety of interests. The horses, the cows, the sheep, and even poultry, make a companionship that is not to be lightly esteemed. We have known sheep herders who have lived contentedly for weeks together with no other companionship than their dogs and horses, and we have known men who were far more oppressed with loneliness in the crowded streets of a great city than on the open hillside where nature smiles upon the human confidence and fellowship. To many men the woods are an inspiration and delight, while every year's autumn, it comes out in the morning mist, brings gladness and perfect content.

Record Coal Output From Alberta

The coal output of Alberta for the year 1916, according to the statistics compiled by the Provincial Mining Department, amounted to 4,686,641 tons, compared with 3,434,891 for 1915 and with 4,306,346 for 1913, the record year so far in the history of coal mining in Alberta.

NEUROUS CHILDREN

The Trouble is Often Really St. Vitus Dance—Do Not Neglect It

Many a child has been called awkward and nervous in school for not keeping still or for dropping things when the trouble was really St. Vitus Dance. This disease may appear at any age, but is most common between the ages of six and fourteen years. It is caused by thin blood which fails to carry sufficient nourishment to the nerves, and the child becomes restless and twitching of the muscles and jerking of the limbs and body follow in severe cases.

St. Vitus Dance is cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The most successful treatment is to remove the child from all mental excitement, stop school work and give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills restore the blood supply, strengthen the nerves, and restore the child to perfect health. Here is a brood of the following to cure Mrs. S. Sharpe, Oakville, Ont., says:—"When my daughter was nine years old she was attacked with St. Vitus Dance. She was sent to sanatorium where she remained for nine weeks without any benefit. In body follow we brought her home where she was as helpless as a baby. I got a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and continued giving her half a pill after each meal for several months, when she had fully recovered and has never had a symptom of the trouble since."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine by mail at 50 cents a box; six boxes for $2.50 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Minister of Agriculture Tells of the Different Measures That Have Been Adopted by the Government to Encourage the Production of Crops of All Kinds from Coast to Coast

"Amongst those products upon which particular stress may be laid are the 'prevalent' products of the acre, American, Improved Mountain, Siberian, Banner, Sixty Day, Lincoln, Czar of Russia and others. These are the products of the days ahead of the others, which are midseason or late varieties.

"Want to get off again, do you? I coared the boss, this will be the last time I'll be off this week. What's the trouble now?

"I want to get your eyes examined, and I want to get your teeth examined.

"Well, get 'em carefully examined."

"How many?"
"Oh, I don't know."

At the annual convention of the Manitoba Dairymen's Association resolutions were adopted asking that creamery inspection be introduced in Canada; that the legislation passed at the last session of the legislature restricting cream-buying stations be strictly enforced; that standardized grades for butter and cream should be brought into complete effect; that a special grade of butter, known as the Manitoba Special, be added to the list of grades; and that the creamery should be specialized at creameries so that the work of creamery inspection should be continued in view of the highly beneficial effect on the industry.

"FRECKLES"

In assembling singers and players for a revival of the famous Song Play "Freckles," by Gene Stratton-Porter, an effort was made to obtain a cast of artists fully equal of the original New York Company. The United Producing Co. believes it met with great success in that.

"Freckles," which will be at Arm's hall, Chinook, Wednesday
May 16th, is a dramatization of the famous novel of the same name, and owes its great success as a play to a happy combination of strong dramatic story mingling pathos with humor, a most pleasing musical score introducing many song hits, and a beautiful scenic production visualising accurately the author's description of the great Lumberlost with all its wonders.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH- WEST LAND REGULATIONS

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Land Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions.
A habitable house is required, except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead.
Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months' residence in each of six years after obtaining homestead patent; also 30 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 30 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

The Same Old Stock

NO MATTER WHAT THEY WERE DOING BEFORE

The men who went across the seas from Canada were taken, in most part, from the farm, the shop, the factory and the offices of the country, and yet in the sternest test of this terrible war they have proved themselves the equal of the finest soldiers in Europe. What Canada has done the United States is capable of doing. They are practically the same people as we—resourceful, highly intelligent and quick to adapt themselves to new conditions. Six months' training will work wonders with the native American, just as it has in most cases converted a Canadian civilian into a first class fighting man.
If the United States goes about its business, as we believe it is now resolved to go about it, seriously and systematically, it ought to have before the year is ended an army, in point of personnel, individual efficiency and morale, worth to take its place side by side with the allied forces on any battlefield.

The White Lead Behind a Paint Determines its Quality

ONLY a very real quality in a White Lead can give successful results in paint-mixing. A worthless compound masquerading as White Lead cannot impart to paint those essential qualities without which it never gives permanent satisfaction.
To avoid risk of failure in mixing your paint,
make it a point to use only paint in which the White Lead used is

Brandram's Genuine B.B. White Lead

It is absolutely pure, whiter than others; of great covering capacity and long life. Working under the brush with ease and freedom, it produces a tough, elastic film that does not crack or peel.
Its real cost is less than that of seemingly cheaper white leads—because it produces a beautiful protective paint that lasts for many years. White Paint of unknown ingredients never looks well and rarely lasts two years.

The Squire's Sweetheart

— BY —

KATHARINE TYNAN

WARD, LOCK & CO., LIMITED
London, Melbourne, and Toronto

He was glad that she had not found Cooper. The more he was interested in Dolly Egerion the more he disliked and resented Cooper. The man had saved her life. It was natural she should be grateful to him. But he hated any intimacy between them. He said to himself that if Cooper had saved her life many times he, if he had the power, would forbid any intercourse between them. He was beginning to hope that he should have the power.

"Trust me," he said. "I've nursed many dogs, till Dolly forbade me having any dogs but him." He turned about and went with her. She told him about Cooper. Of late the dog had been restless, escaped from the house as often as he could, and wandered. He had grown very thin.

"I had to leave him so much alone," she said, with tears in her eyes and voice. "Louise would not have him there. She dislikes dogs. She said she could not trust him with Susan. If she had only seen him and Susan together, said, 'I wish I had seen him.' That was why I lived in the Old Cottage, at least partly. I love it! It is my place of refuge."

She had never spoken to him so freely before. She had not had many opportunities, although he and they had been much at the Egerion's, and they had laughed and dined and tea'd with him at Silverthorne Manor. On those occasions, Mrs. Egerion had claimed his attention with a manner of indolent acceptance of him, his sister-in-law, kept her away from both husband and child. Dolly's extravagant worship of the child had no counterweight in the mother's tolerance of "the brat," as she called the charming little creature. And the child loved Dolly—would always run to her when she escaped from her mother. Of late he had observed an awakening of maternal emotion in Mrs. Egerion when it was a question of Dolly and Susan.

Only yesterday Egerion had remarked suspiciously, "Why, Granny, what has come to you? You used to be bored with the kid, and willing to let anybody take her, and your hands. Why not let Dolly take her for a walk?"

"Because I prefer to take her myself," Mrs. Egerion had replied with her husband called her Monna Lisa smile. "Perhaps I am beginning to take an interest in her after all, although she is such a naughty little thing."

"Poor Susan!" said the father, looking down humorously at the fairy-faced child. "You speak! Imagine your little daughter!"

But Susan certainly was naughty, for she cried steadily till she drove her father from his work, while her mother, still wearing the Monna Lisa smile, insisted that it was time Susan should learn to obey.

As they approached the New Cottage they saw in the distance the figure of a man approaching them.

"Oh," said Dolly, "it is Mr. Cooper. He told me he was coming here last night when I called at the shop. What shall I do?"

The Squire spoke as though life and death were at issue, his eyes depended on her acceptance of what he said.

"Don't ask his advice. I am quite qualified to advise. If there is anything a vet. can do I will telegraph to Tallisham."

"Very well," said the girl under her breath. Did her sigh mean relief? "I need not tell him, then! I am glad I met you."

Cooper came along the road with the swaggering gait which was characteristic of him. As he came near enough to be aware of them, his expression changed. A curious darkness overspread his face, deepening the color almost to purple. His eyes with the yellow whites to them, scowled. The Squire thought as he heard a little catch of the breath of his companion. Was it possible she was afraid of the fellow?

"Good morning!" he said, chilly politeness. Cooper made as though to stop, then seeing that they were going on, he passed them, lifting his hat with a sullen response.

"But why?" asked the girl, lifting her wet eyes to him.

"Don't know. I detest the fellow."

"You know what he did for me?"

"I know. I wish someone else had done it."

"It is very brave," said Dolly, and a wave of color came over her face. "I know he is not exactly a gentleman, but I can never forget the horrible thing he saved me from. That night when I sat there helpless, seeing the headlights of the car sweep round the curve. It seemed that nothing could have saved me. It was truly like I saw him. I try to remember it now, when I am disposed to hate him. I suppose he cannot remember it, but I shall never forget it, that would you not, if he had saved your life?"

"So she knew. The Squire felt an immense sense of relief.

"I wish someone else had rendered you that service," he said. "I wish I had done it,"—then he added, as with an effort, "I concede that he is brave and efficient. I have seen his efficiency in action."

They turned in at the white gate of the New Cottage, crossed the road, and went in at the opening in the privet-hedge.

Dolly unlocked the cottage door with a key taken from under a stone. She listened with a strained anxiety. There was a sound—the thumping of a dog's tail upon the floor.

Pushing open the door, she ran to the dog, who lay in a corner of the room up against the wall. She knelt down by him. The tail still beat the ground feebly, but the eyes had begun not to see.

"Oh," she cried, with piteous entreaty, "what is the matter with you? My darling old dog! Is he dying?"

A great shiver shook the dog. There was a little struggle, which she did not see because she was looking at him. She had felt him a tie, a hindrance, when she wanted to go up to London. The Squire consoling her patiently and kindly.

He sighed because Lionel Egerion was away, though he would be back in a few hours' time. Dolly sat and wept, her hands, white and alicorn, the form of the dog settled into rigidity. She wept for herself and the dog—for her mother, who had loved him, and for the kindness that had been shown to him; for her own neglect, or fancied neglect, of him; and for future acts of impotence which Keeper would have been the first to excuse the mistress he adored. She wept for the lost companionship for the years the dog had taken with him.

As they approached the New Cottage they saw in the distance the figure of a man approaching them.

"Oh," said Dolly, "it is Mr. Cooper. He told me he was coming here last night when I called at the shop. What shall I do?"

The Squire spoke as though life and death were at issue, his eyes depended on her acceptance of what he said.

"Don't ask his advice. I am quite qualified to advise. If there is anything a vet. can do I will telegraph to Tallisham."

"Very well," said the girl under her breath. Did her sigh mean relief? "I need not tell him, then! I am glad I met you."

Cooper came along the road with the swaggering gait which was characteristic of him. As he came near enough to be aware of them, his expression changed. A curious darkness overspread his face, deepening the color almost to purple. His eyes with the yellow whites to them, scowled. The Squire thought as he heard a little catch of the breath of his companion. Was it possible she was afraid of the fellow?

"Good morning!" he said, chilly politeness. Cooper made as though to stop, then seeing that they were going on, he passed them, lifting his hat with a sullen response.

"But why?" asked the girl, lifting her wet eyes to him.

"Don't know. I detest the fellow."

"You know what he did for me?"

"I know. I wish someone else had done it."

"It is very brave," said Dolly, and a wave of color came over her face. "I know he is not exactly a gentleman, but I can never forget the horrible thing he saved me from. That night when I sat there helpless, seeing the headlights of the car sweep round the curve. It seemed that nothing could have saved me. It was truly like I saw him. I try to remember it now, when I am disposed to hate him. I suppose he cannot remember it, but I shall never forget it, that would you not, if he had saved your life?"

"So she knew. The Squire felt an immense sense of relief.

"I wish someone else had rendered you that service," he said. "I wish I had done it,"—then he added, as with an effort, "I concede that he is brave and efficient. I have seen his efficiency in action."

They turned in at the white gate of the New Cottage, crossed the road, and went in at the opening in the privet-hedge.

Dolly unlocked the cottage door with a key taken from under a stone. She listened with a strained anxiety. There was a sound—the thumping of a dog's tail upon the floor.

Pushing open the door, she ran to the dog, who lay in a corner of the room up against the wall. She knelt down by him. The tail still beat the ground feebly, but the eyes had begun not to see.

"Oh," she cried, with piteous entreaty, "what is the matter with you? My darling old dog! Is he dying?"

A great shiver shook the dog. There was a little struggle, which she did not see because she was looking at him. She had felt him a tie, a hindrance, when she wanted to go up to London. The Squire consoling her patiently and kindly.

He sighed because Lionel Egerion was away, though he would be back in a few hours' time. Dolly sat and wept, her hands, white and alicorn, the form of the dog settled into rigidity. She wept for herself and the dog—for her mother, who had loved him, and for the kindness that had been shown to him; for her own neglect, or fancied neglect, of him; and for future acts of impotence which Keeper would have been the first to excuse the mistress he adored. She wept for the lost companionship for the years the dog had taken with him.

ing to take an interest in her after all, although she is such a naughty little thing."

"Poor Susan!" said the father, looking down humorously at the fairy-faced child. "You speak! Imagine your little daughter!"

But Susan certainly was naughty, for she cried steadily till she drove her father from his work, while her mother, still wearing the Monna Lisa smile, insisted that it was time Susan should learn to obey.

Ships Biggest British Need

Call for Speeding up Mercantile Shipbuilding Becomes More Insistent

London press and public men are confident that the military situation is well in hand. The doubly element of uncertainty is the submarine warfare's effect on the food supply. The call for speeding up the mercantile shipbuilding is most insistent. It takes the place of the demands earlier in the war for men and munitions. The action of neutrals in holding ships in port has been the subject of inquiries and discussion in the House of Commons, and there may be further developments in this direction, most important to Canada, if the Danes and Hollanders are unable to ship their dairy products in their own vessels or are unwilling to take any risk at all.

In carrying on in London the established business of provisioning Britain, there is a disposition here to turn more and more toward making the Empire self-contained in the matter of foodstuffs in peace or war. Canada profits at once by this, because she is the nearest source of supplies in the case of the outer Dominions, and much less shipping is needed to bring her products to Britain than in the case of the outer Dominions.

Counter Check Or Sales Books

Mr. Merchants—

If you are not already using our Counter Check or Sales Books we would respectfully solicit your next order. Years of experience in the manufacture of this line enable us to give you a book as useful as any other. It is possible to be made in these difficult times.

Will Relieve Sheep Skin Shortage

The shortage of sheep skins in Canada, on account of export restrictions imposed by the Australian government, promises to be materially relieved by the relaxation of the regulations which the commonwealth government has adopted. A report which has come to Ottawa from the Canadian Trade Commissioner, states that after provision has been made for domestic needs, 4,000 bales monthly will be sold to the Imperial government. The balance will be sold by the government through the central wool committee, but the skins must go only to other Dominions or to the Allies.

A Pony in Hand

Little Albert was very anxious to have his pious grandfather give him a pony. "Albert," said his grandfather one morning, "when you want anything very much you should pray for it."

"Well," said the little fellow reflectively, "you believe in prayer. God would give me a pony like yours if I should pray for one?"

"And I, I do, child," came the assuring reply.

"Well, grandpa," said the little fellow, "give me this pony and you pray for the other pony."

Co-Operation as a Bond of Union

Sir Horace Plunkett Accomplishing a Great Work in Ireland

Before Sir Horace Plunkett began his great work for the organization of Irish agriculture on a co-operative basis Irish butter was regarded as an inferior, ungraded commodity, commanding low prices, and finding no good market. Now, although it does not uniformly command the highest prices, as Danish does, it is recognized as a high class article, and the butter made under the Butter Control is known to be equal to the best Danish Control Butter. When the organization of marketing has been perfected there is no doubt that all the creameries will bring themselves up to the high standard required of the Control, and thus make it possible for the Irish butter to beat the Danish in the British market. The turnover of Irish creameries began at a little over 4,000 pounds, and now stands at nearly 3,000,000 pounds.

Over a thousand societies of co-operative farmers have been organized in Ireland. The work of these societies covers not only the production and marketing of butter, eggs, etc., but extends to the buying and selling of fertilizers and farm implements. They are bought on a co-operative basis.

"Great as is the economic advantage to a country like Ireland in having the Nationalistic and co-operative farmers, the social and educational advantage is even greater."—Sir Horace Plunkett, in an article in the "Gran Growers' Guide."

"A country lately torn by the threat of civil war and by the realization of rebellion might be expected to reflect inside the co-operative movement of the differences which have been outside. But, although Irish co-operators number amongst them, as well as moderate Unionists and moderate Nationalists, the people in the North who have signed Sir Edward Carson's covenant, and some people in the South who adhere to the Nationalist doctrine of those who led the late rebellion, none of the disturbances which have so recently happened in the country has had the smallest effect upon the co-operative movement. The sturdy Northern, however, he may have been true to the (possibly) rebellious Southern round the committee table of a conference or of a central federation. And, like the lion and the lamb, the Jesuit priest and the Orange parson not only met together in the same room, but they behaved towards each other not merely as fellow-councillors, but as warm personal friends."

Language and Alliances

A Tribute to the Binding Power of a Mutual Tongue

No two nations speaking the same language are fighting against each other in this war. It is also true that there can never be a perfect alliance between any two nations which do not speak the same tongue. There can be strong economic and military alliances between countries, these alliances being arranged by the respective governments, the benefits fully appreciated by the peoples, and a mutual understanding existing between these individuals who are able to communicate with each other. A perfect alliance between two nations, if such a thing is possible, means that the people of each nation are able to visualize the habit of thought of the other, this not applying to the few that are particularly well informed, but to all farmers, workmen and business men, as well as scholars, diplomats or social cosmopolites.

Between America and England, therefore, exists a bond like that between no other two great countries in the world, with the exception of Germany and Austria, and the closeness of the alliance between these two countries is tribute to the binding power of a mutual tongue. This point of sympathetic contact acts in every way to bring about a good understanding.—From the London Daily Chronicle.

An Expensive Baby

John Jacob Astor, the posthumous child of Colonel Astor, who perished in the Titanic disaster, spends $26,000 a year, or more than $70 a day, says his mother, Mrs. William Dick, in giving an account of her stewardship of the infant's estate. Baby Astor was four years old last August 14. Mrs. Dick's accounting dates from November 13, 1912, to December 31, 1912, during which period she received over $50,000 from the trust fund of $3,000,000 established by Colonel Astor.

Up to the time when Mrs. Astor left home to become Mrs. Dick, she charges her boy with a third of the taxes, about $8,000 a year, and also charged about $300,000 towards the maintenance of the home. The baby's income tax for 1914 totaled $2,540. When Mrs. Astor married last year she forfeited the Astor home and the huge trust fund.

Luxemburg is a German Captive

Inhabitants of Little Principality All Working for High Wages, But Can't Spend Them

"Little news reaches the outside world concerning the state of affairs in the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, the little state wedged in between Germany, France and Belgium, that is, the little state wedged in between the tramp of the German legions on their way to France. Luxembourg is entirely isolated by the Germans, and its inhabitants are, like the Belgians, practically prisoners within their own borders, where they are subjected to all the economic hardships of the Central Powers.

According to information furnished to the Amsterdam Telegraph by a Luxembourg newspaper, which is based in getting through to Holland, there is practically no unemployment in the grand duchy, where numerous small industries, steel manufacturing and engineering works are busily engaged on German orders. But while this results in high wages and an abundance of money being put into circulation, there is little to be had for money. The food position in particular is described as serious.

The government has tried to get food from Holland and Denmark, but the Germans refuse to let it pass, frankly declaring that they will not have the competition of Luxembourg buyers on the markets of those countries. The Luxembourg government bought and paid for 1.4 million francs worth of butter in Denmark but it has not reached its destination.

The country would itself be able to meet its own prime needs were it not for the fact that it still has to regularly enter a large part of its products to Germany. As a result of the complaints of the government, however, Germany has restricted its requisitions. The Luxembourg has to feed a German battalion, and on the other hand German soldiers are forbidden to requisition or buy eatables there. Notwithstanding the latter regulation, however, troops going to or coming from the front are well provided with proper money, and are glad for it, in fact, to pay as much as fifteen francs for a pound of ham.

It is true the Luxembourg soldiers serving as customs officers have recently obtained the right to search German soldiers leaving the country. This right does not extend to officers, and the latter smuggle quite as much or more than their men.

To Fill Torpedo Attacks

Giovanni Donovico, Italian Consul agent at Welland, Ont., has invented a safety device to protect ships against torpedo attacks. It consists of double nets kept moving in opposite directions by power supplied from a motor on the ship. The effect is that when a torpedo strikes the net the propeller becomes entangled in the net and the engine of destruction is rendered useless.

The Farmers' Era Arrives

Governments Trying to Get on the Good Side of the Land Tiller

According to the evidences of the naked eye there is a wide scramble by all governments of Canada to get on the good side of the farmers. Which must cause chuckles among our friends in the country who have vivid recollections of the days when the powers scorned their intelligence and influence. It is being borne in upon the leaders of Canada that this is a country that is dependent for its greatest wealth production upon its agriculture. Hence those who produce this great wealth must be respected. And further, legislation, that will put the farming class on a par with the banking, insurance and transportation classes in the matter of rights and benefits is being enacted with more haste than ever. Truly it is a great day for the farmer.—Calgary News-Telegram.

Labor Shortage in West

Enlistments From Farming Population Will Lower Production

Agricultural recruits were fine, combed for recruits with no effort whatever to ascertain first if any could not perform better service at home. One case might be mentioned, as an instance of two sons, the sole support of a mother and four children. The older son, being dead, these boys were left in charge of the farm. After one had enlisted, no rest was given the other. Rather than stand for continued insurances of cowardice by recruiting officers, the second finally enlisted, and is now in England. The result is that over thirty head of stock, and the farm is left at the mercy of a neighbor stranger, who agreed to look after them—the mother being obliged to remain in town while her children are in school. Production is shut off not only to the state but to the family, to say nothing about the danger of work, and savings of years being lost to the family. At the same time judging by large attendances every day at the theatres, billiard parlors and saloons, thousands of eligible young men were left in the cities with no apparent responsibilities.

And now the clamor is made by the same misguided patriots to have this surplus city fighting material corralled and sent to the front, to bluff at the work of trained agriculturalists who were pushed into uniform.

There is no particular reason to believe that city slackers will be more willing to enlist for arduous farm work than they have been for military service—and it is open to serious question if most of them could be so. They are not going from the Toronto Saturday Night.

CONSTIPATED CHILDREN

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of childhood and the child suffering from it cannot thrive. To keep the little one well the bowels must be kept regular and the stomach sweet. To this nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets. Concerning them Mrs. Romaine Poirer, Mizonette, N. B., says:—"My baby has suffered from constipation but thanks to Baby's Own Tablets he is perfectly well again." The Tablets are sold by leading druggists or by mail at 25¢ a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Don't Be a Discouraging Parent

The Child's Initiative Should be Carefully Guided and Guarded

The most catching thing in the world is discouragement. If it were all as full of faith as we ought to be and brimming over with courage, it might not be so. But every one of us has her own battle to fight with the forces of discouragement, and cannot afford to have allies come to their assistance. So there is something to be said for the woman who was asked what kind of a man would make the worst kind of a husband, and who promptly replied, "A discourager." The heads of households often forget this fact of the contagion of discouragement and weaken the moral forces of their children without meaning to do so. There ought to be some room for projects, even though on consideration they prove not to be wise. But if a child finds that all his proposals are promptly ruled out of court by denial or disparagement, he will be likely to give up projecting or to keep his thoughts and proposals to himself. The first is a serious moral loss and results in the weakening of character. The second is the sowing of a gift, which in time will become impassable, between parent and child. The child's initiative can be guarded and guided as one of the chief ways of preparing him for life. There are plenty of ways for leading off or transforming unwelcome childish plans which will yet make the child feel that his individuality and dignity have been respected. But may seldom put it into words, "My mother is a most discouraging person. She sits down hard on everything I propose, and that mother's influence is largely at an end or it results in making the child in his turn a life-long discourager of others."—The Congregationalist.

For Clean Seed

Smut in Oats Is Checked by Seed Treatment

Treating seed oats with formaldehyde solution to prevent loss of head smut has been shown by the Ohio Experiment Station to be highly profitable for time so spent. One pint or pound of 40 per cent. formaldehyde, sold at drug stores as formalin, mixed in 40 gallons of water will be sufficient to treat 40 bushels of seed oats.

The solution should be sprinkled over the oats spread on a tight floor or canvas, and the oats shoveled over so that every grain will be thoroughly moistened. After being covered with a blanket for three hours or overnight, the oats should be spread out to dry. In order to prevent further infection bags, mills and drills should be disinfected with the same solution if the oats are to be put in them.

MRS. ROGER GIVES CREDIT TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Before that She Suffered from Sciatica, Neuralgia, Nervousness and Other Troubles Coming from Sick Kidneys, Which Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured.

Elna Tree, Gloucester, Co., N. B. (Special)—Mrs. Jos. Roger, the popular teacher here, is fully recovered from a long siege of sciatica, neuralgia, and other troubles resulting from diseased kidneys and has made a statement in which she gives Dodd's Kidney Pills all the credit for her cure.

"My trouble came from a strain," Mrs. Roger states, "and I suffered for thirteen months. Backache, heart fluttering, sciatica, neuralgia, dizziness and failing memory were among my symptoms. When the doctor I consulted failed to do me any lasting good I decided that my kidneys were the root of my troubles and decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took twelve bottles in all and you may judge of the results when I tell you that I have not lost a day's work as teacher in the last year."

"I can say that Dodd's Kidney Pills have done all for me that was claimed for them."

Others of Mrs. Rogers' symptoms were nervousness, that tired feeling, irritability and a dry harsh skin that itched and burned at night. They all came from diseased kidneys and all vanished when she used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Railway Mileage Quadrupled

The provincial department of railways of Saskatchewan reports that from the year 1903 to 1915 the mileage of railways in the province increased from 1,551 to 6,101.

Needn't Wait To Be Forced Daylight saving is again suggested and as a means of giving more time for work in vegetable gardens. But people need not wait for laws; they can be a law unto themselves in this matter.—Kingston Standard.

The Oil for the Farmer.—A bottle of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the farm house will save many a journey for the doctor. It is not only good for the children when taken with cold and cough, and for the mature who suffer from pain and rheumatism, but there are directions for its use on sick cattle. There should always be a bottle of it in the house.

Way to Bat High Prices.

Here's New England thrift for you. A man living at Gloucester, Mass., advertised in a local paper that he would give $5 for the best specimen potato sent him during a certain period. Despite the present value of tubers, fine specimens came in every day, until at the close of the contest he had six barrels of choice potatoes—all for $5.

Invents Apparatus To Destroy Subs.

Wonderful Claims are Made for a Pittsburgh Man's Discovery

Theodore Eichholz a young engineer and architect of Pittsburgh, has invented a wireless device that may be used to destroy submarines by causing an explosion of gases that are always present in submarines. For several years the inventor was connected with the United States Corps of Engineers.

Mr. Eichholz stated that a few days ago a small experimental apparatus in his home on Neville Island sunk a small "dummy" submarine in the Ohio River five miles away. The destroyed model was built of steel and had been submerged to a depth of ten feet.

Minard's Liniment Cures Dandruff.

The old idea that periodical change of seed was essential has been abandoned by scientific investigators and by the most progressive farmer. Proper methods are followed to keep the fertility of the soil; if the land is thoroughly cultivated; and if clean plump seed is sown every year, deterioration of the grain will not occur.

Could Hardly Live for Asthma. Writes one man who after years of suffering has found complete relief through Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Now he knows how needless has been his suffering. This matches remedy gives such relief to all afflicted with asthma. Inhaled as smoke or vapor it brings the help so long needed. Every dealer has it or can get it for you from his wholesaler.

Where Are They?

The man who had made a huge fortune was speaking a few words to a number of students at a business class. Of course, the main theme of his address was himself.

"All my success in life, all my tremendous financial prestige," he said proudly, "I owe to one thing alone—pluck, pluck, pluck!"

He made an impressive pause here but the effect was ruined by one student, who asked impulsively: "Yes, sir; but how are we to find the right people to pluck?"

$75,000,000 More for West The wheat crop of Western Canada, says the Winnipeg Telegram, has proven to be some thirty per cent. larger than was originally estimated by the crop experts. The crop was placed at from 170,000,000 to 180,000,000 bushels, but it will be about 225,000,000 bushels. At $1.50 per bushel (which is less than the current market price) it means that the western wheat crop is worth some $75,000,000 more than was anticipated.

GREAT EUROPEAN REMEDY FOR CATARRH, COUGHS, COLDS, DEAFNESS, AND HEAD NOISES

Few people realize what a serious disease Catarrh really is. If neglected this damage is done often irreparable. Endless long tedious and Head Noises that drive the sufferer nearly frantic are invariably due to this hidden disease. Don't neglect Catarrh! Don't let it make you into a worn-out, run-down Catarrh wreck. What is Catarrh today may be something far more serious tomorrow. Remember it is more than a trifling ailment—more than a disagreeing cold. It is a dangerous one. Undeveloped it frequently destroys smell, taste, hearing and slowly but surely undermines the general health. But why suffer and take chances? Secure from your druggist a bottle of Parmital (double strength), take this home and add to it a quarter pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar, stir until dissolved. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

Parmital is the great English remedy for Catarrh that is now being eagerly sought for here in Canada where it is giving satisfaction even under our own trying climatic conditions.

Catarrh is a disease of the blood and the only possible way to cure it is by treating the blood. Drive the Catarrh poisons from the system by treating the blood and the disease itself must vanish. Parmital has proved successful in so many cases because it acts directly upon the blood and mucous membrane.

To be able to breathe freely, to hear plainly, smell, taste and arise in the morning refreshed and strong with head and throat free from phlegm are conditions that make life worth living.

For you to take give Parmital a trial and—after the treatment is over. For cough and cold it is unsurpassed. Any druggist can supply you, or a bottle will be sent on receipt of 75¢ postal note or money order. Address International Laboratories 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, Canada.

Britain's Colossal Pension List

The most up-to-date figures available in London show that 50,000 widows already are dependent on the government as a result of the war. This figure does not include the results of some of the recent great battles on the Somme. There are also 100,000 war orphans on the pension lists and 70,000 disabled soldiers have been judged eligible to pension, while 50,000 cases are pending.

Large temporary buildings have been erected in St. James's Park, just behind the Foreign Office, in which British pensions will be administered during the war.

Larger Road Production in Manitoba

The province of Manitoba produced in 1916 9,089,602 bushels of potatoes and 3,899,125 bushels of other roots. This was 1,300,000 bushels of potatoes more than in 1915 and 700,000 bushels more of other roots. The average production increased 31 and 25 bushels per acre respectively.

An Appropriate Cargo

It is rare nowadays to find a vessel loaded with such a harmonious and altogether fitting cargo as that which the Sardinian recently took into Boston. It consisted of rum and tombstones.—Youth's Companion.

When Women are Weak

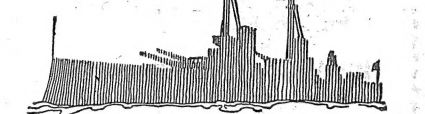

Women who feel weak, languid and depressed—who look pale and dull-eyed, and have lost appetite and fresh looks—need a tonic that will purify the blood, help the organs of digestion, regulate the liver and bowels, and strengthen the system. It long has been known that are a blessing to weak women, for they quickly correct womanly ailments, improve the appetite, purify the blood and re-establish healthy conditions. They are safe to take as they are purely vegetable and without any harmful drug. A few doses will bring better spirits, improved health and a feeling of fitness.

Beecham's Pills

Why Prices are High

A Simple Explanation of the Jump in Cost of Commodities

Some months ago when sugar started to take a rise in price, the demand was greater than usual and farmers, as well as some town folk, began to lay in sugar by the hundred pounds. I was advised to do the same thing, but on inquiring at the stores I found one grocerman that would not price sugar in hundred pound lots and he explained: "The more people that get scared and buy in quantity, the higher sugar will go until all have laid in their supplies; then the brisk demand falling off, sugar will go to normal prices again."

"This set me to thinking, and it is true of any commodity. While prices are normal it is well to lay in supplies, but when there is a scarcity, the fewer people who buy, and the smaller the lots purchased, the greater the tendency to hold prices down to normal. Had you ever thought of it that way?"
